

IDEA Project Monitoring Team

After analyzing the results of the 2005 Employees Satisfaction Survey, the company decided to instigate a new project as one area for improvement was employees' motivation. A team has been appointed composed by personnel within the company which is involved in collecting, reviewing and evaluating comments and suggestions made by the employees. The project is called "IDEA" and all employees can propose ideas related to their personal work, their departments' activities or company's various operational matters in general. EST's leaders participate in the evaluation of the most prominent ideas and act as team leaders for the improvement activities generated.
